

OUR MISSION

We offer a responsible recycling solution for the community, while providing our members and partners with confidence that their brands are in safe hands.

Through its TechCollect program, ANZRP aims to:

- reduce e-waste contribution to landfill by delivering on collection and recycling targets
- scale operations to drive down collection and recycling costs
- encourage maximum resource recovery from end of life e-waste to capture its commercial and environmental value
- provide a free drop off service to households and small businesses across Australia
- engage, educate and collaborate with stakeholders to drive sustained behavioural change in the community.

OUR ACHIEVEMENTS

ANZRP has made great strides in its mission over the last five years.

- We represent over 50 of Australia's liable parties: some of the world's leading technology companies are ANZRP members, including Dell, Canon, Epson, Fuji-Xerox, HP, Toshiba and many others.
- We have a strong Board that provides invaluable guidance to ensure that ANZRP is informed by the highest levels of industry expertise and knowledge.
- We have placed the highest importance on recycling processes and workplace health and safety, working only with recyclers who meet the highest local and international e-waste recycling standards.
- We have provided hundreds of free collection services across Australia.
- We're partnering with local government, waste management companies, logistics providers and recyclers to deliver the most efficient and cost-effective service – one which is always driving better outcomes.
- We achieve over 90% recovery of materials from the e-waste recycling process, including precious metals, glass and plastic.

- We work collaboratively with members, industry groups, all tiers of government and other interested stakeholders to improve the scheme and deliver sustainable environmental outcomes.
- We are spreading awareness of the program and the importance of e-waste recycling through national educational initiatives such as Young E-Waste Hero and Waste Not, Want Not Day.
- We regularly share our expertise and insights with the scheme regulator, the Department of the Environment and Energy, to improve the scheme and lobby for change, providing even stronger outcomes for our members and Australian communities.
- We are a transparent, fair and equitable company.
